STP Strategy

S

Green Alpha is focusing on children aged 6-12 in international schools, along with their typically educated, urban parents aged 30-55, who are willing to invest in high-quality education. It also considers families who value cultural identity and creative learning, and they are looking for interactive, game-based education

T

Green Alpha targets a primary audience of high-income urban parents seeking engaging ways to connect their children to Egyptian heritage, as well as children who prefer hands-on, gamified learning experiences. It also targets international schools as key partners to integrate the product into educational settings .

P

Green Alpha is positioned as a unique, gamified educational solution that transforms cultural learning into a fun, hands-on experience through origami and storytelling. It stands out as the only product that blends Egyptian heritage with interactive play, delivering both educational value and emotional benefits by fostering creativity.

Objectives

The marketing plan focuses on increasing awareness and sales of Green Alpha’s Origami Heritage Game Box through social media and school partnerships, aiming to grow followers, boost engagement, and achieve conversions by using engaging educational content, all aligned with its cultural mission within a 3–4 month period.

Marketing Strategy

Content Creation & Storytelling

- Showcase Egyptian heritage through engaging visual content (Reels & short videos), highlighting origami models, stories, and learning moments.
- Maintain a consistent brand identity using colors, storytelling themes, and educational messaging

Social Media Strategy

- Focus on Facebook and Instagram to build strong brand presence among parents and schools.
- Share high-quality, educational, and interactive content (videos, carousels, quizzes, and “Did you know?” posts) to engage both children and parents.

Targeted Ads

- Run Facebook and Instagram ads to increase visibility and drive direct sales of the Origami Game Box.
- Use precise targeting (parents, schools, interests in education & kids’ activities) to convert engagement into purchases.

Content Plan

How do I keep my child away from the phone without daily battles?
Screens are:
✓Instant
✓Entertaining
✓Effortless
If we remove them without replacing them,...
the battle begins.
Children naturally reduce screen time when they have:
Instead of:
"Put the phone away."
Try:
"Let's build something together"
